Measured by Any Standard Our Great Saturday Exhibit of Easter Suits Tops Them All

A more metropolitan array of tailored suit finery at our popular prices is rarely seen. We have planned to make Saturday the big suit day before Easter. Special purchases made in the East were ordered rushed out for this day's sales. We know there have never been such values before. The prices are low but that alone does not constitute value. The superior materials; the extreme desirability of the colorings and patterns; the matchless tailoring; the superb styles—these are what count. That's what you get if you come here tomorrow. The handsomest Easter Suits in town without a doubt and assuredly the widest assortments. Whether you want a straight coat or bloused coat model, it's here, richly lined—either strictly tailored or silk trimmed, at . . .

Economy and Perfect Styles in Men's Wear

Spring Hats for Men...

It's our complete new spring lines to which we invite you tomorrow. Whatever your walk in life you'll find a hat here to fit your age, build and personality. That's the real secret of being becomingly "hatted." Soft Hats are in the foreground, for fashion approves of them more strongly than ever. All the new shades are shown, in the smartest of new shapes, with raw, braided, bound or stitched edges. All the style and tone that the best makers are capable of producing is displayed in these hats we show you now. And ours are priced considerably less, too, at each . . . $2-$25.00

Spring is on the wing, but in the men's store it has already arrived. Winter stocks are gone. In their place you'll find the tables heaping high and resplendent with new spring clothing—SPRING SUITS FOR MEN that are distinctively new. Many new cloths and colorings. Not too assertive, but sufficiently pronounced to please good dressers. LIGHT CRAVENETTE OR SPRING OVERCOATS are shown, in the most fashionable fabrics—Coats adapted for rain or shine and with lots of style and good taste worked into them. The finest clothing in America at these prices, and much less than you'll see like garments priced about town—SUITS OR OVERCOATS—

GOT HIS MAN BY THE EAR
Incident in the Career of a Nervy Deputy Sheriff of Dakota Territory.
Before going to Dakota Territory in 1873, John R. Petrie was deputy sheriff and later sheriff of Ogle county, Illinois, for eight years in all, following his return from the war of the rebellion, where he served in the Second Illinois cavalry. His father had been sheriff before him, and, later, probate judge of the county.
Petrie carries the scars of more than one encounter, the worst of all having been received in New Orleans, whither he had followed a robber who had broken into a bank at Rochelle, Ill., securing $15,000 in currency and making his escape. After tracing the fugitive through the southern states to New Orleans, he could find no clue to his quarry in the Louisiana metropolis.

Quitting by accident the officer finally stumbled upon the fugitive. Within a block of his (Petrie's) hotel was a billiard hall, into which Petrie chanced to stroll before retiring for the night. At the farther end he noticed a private room, where he learned a game of poker was in progress. From his position near the clear stand he could see inside the private compartment when the door swung open to admit waiters with rounds of drinks.
The well-lighted room presently revealed to the astonished gaze of the officer the face and form of the man he was after. Like a flash Petrie was inside the private compartment. But the poker-player also instantly recognized Petrie, and reaching for his gun, which was on the table before him, he fired at the officer before the latter could spring upon him.

The bullet took effect in Petrie's groin, and he fell to the floor. As he fell, however, he gripped the man by the leg and, pointing his revolver upward at the form of the fugitive, pulled the trigger. The bullet shaved the robber's ear clean off, and furrowed his temple. Before either could shoot again four policemen were upon them both.

They tried to separate the two, but Petrie, wounded though he was, hung on to the trousers-leg of his prisoner with one hand, with bulldog tenacity, while with the other he pulled out his warrant and flashed his star, showing that he was an officer of the law.

"Don't let him get away, boys," he cried. "Search him quick."
They found in the possession of the fugitive the whole of the money save $12. Petrie was carried on a stretcher to the nearest drug store, where a surgeon extracted the bullet, and in ten days the plucky little deputy was up and about on crutches. In that condition he took the prisoner back to Illinois, and, later, to the penitentiary of Illinois, on a 17-year sentence. Value $12 Magazine

One of Mark Twain's.
Mark Twain says that he has always taken women's part.
"For instance," he relates, "I once strongly reprimanded a woman out in Hannibal, Mo. Here was the occasion:
"So this is a little girl, eh? I said to her as she displayed her children to me. 'And this sturdy little grubb in the bib belongs, I suppose, to the contrary sex?'
"Yassah," the woman replied, 'Yassah, dat's a girl, too.'—Everybody's Magazine.
